THE SIX-DAY RACE.

A large and enthusiastic crowd witnessed the second installment of the Ladies' Six Day Race at the ball park, last night. The riders all appeared to be in better condition than on the previous night, and all put up a great race. Miss Vine, of Youngstown, particularly, showed marked improvement over Monday night's work and stuck to the leaders nearly the entire evening. She had a spill during the early part of the evenspill during the early part of the evening, but pluckly mounted another wheel and rode off amid the cheers of the audience. Miss Wagner tried hard to regain the lap lost Monday night, but all in vain. Miss Alien stuck to her rear tire like a leach and during the entire evening these two riders ware scarcely separated a wheel lensth. Miss Howard and "Babe" Bartley also showed marked improviment. The latter made several hot sprints. She was roundly cheered for her efforts and was the favorite of the evening. Luiu Young, the local rider, became nervous and could not hold her wheel when the other riders passed her, and was called off by the referee. She will, however, make another attempt to-night and hopes to do better.

Flyer, for a Race.

Will Mathews, the champion of West Virginia, has accepted the challenge of Miss May Allen, published in yesterday's Intelligencer. In his letter of accepting it he states that he is not accustomed to the saucer-shaped track, but is willing to contest on it nevertheless, for a purse to be decided on. Louis Gimm, of Cleveland, the well known road rider,
who issued the challenge, will have the articles of agreement drawn up to-day

articles of agreement drawn up to-day or to-morrow.

The race will be run in a series of three heats, best two in three, the heats to occur Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week. The management will also provide races for female riders upon this occasion, and there is no doubt the contests between Miss Allen and young Mathews will be exciting and worthy of liberal paironage.

William McGivern, a young man about twenty-three years of age, was instantly killed by a cave-in at Glasgow's stone quarry yesterday. He had gone to the quarry in the absence of anything else to do and sat down in the shade afforded by the bluff bank of the quarry. Suddenly the bank caved in upon McGivern, a huge stone striking him upon the head, fracturing his skuil. He was buried in the fall of earth and stone and was dead when taken out. The men at work in the quarry went to work quickly to rescue the buried man, but the stone that crushed his head had killed him. He was a son of Peter McGivern and a young man of good habits. He will be buried this afternoon at 2 octook.

The opening of the coal mines, the mills and the factories, following the rich harvest is regarded by Republicans of much more importance than the opening of the campaign. And we hear very little about opening our mints to the silver of the world this year. Some of the advocates of this polley, say that prosperity will not last, but Speaker Reed aptly answers this by saying: "These eminent gentlemen might as well say to the pendulum of a wound-up clock just started: 'You had better give up this weary job. You were started with a push and nobody is going to sit up nights to keep on pushing you."

There will probably be no political

There will probably be no political meetings here until some time next month. The great harvest fields and fruit trees have been doing yeoman service, and the starting of the mills and factories with men returning to work every day, all combine to do more than too much talk can do.

The city council met last night and transacted considerable routine business and passed an ordinance and resolution to further advance contemplated improvements. The school board also met and transacted routine business, but neither body did anything of special public concern.

The county board of election supervi-sors will meet here Saturday to hear ob-jections, if there are any, to dividing Pultney township voting presinct. They will also receive bids for printing tickets for a special election for two members of council in Bridgeport.

John W. Hingeley, the Democratic candidate for county treasurer, was mingling with Hellaire voters Monday night. He regards his competitor, W. C. Bergundthal, as a favorite at his home and plended with his own party for at-tention here.

The Bellaire Choral Society met in the First Presbyterian church last night to reorganize for the ensuing winter. The attendance was slim owing to the neat and other attractions, but the society will move along with a full membership shortly.

If a man is on the way to consumption, he should make a stop as quickly as possible. He should put on brakes. BENWOOD.

News Items from the Lively Industrial Town.

Council held a very important meeting last night. The Kinney water works ordinance met with favorable action, and it was decided to extend the sewer in the alley between Main and McMechen streets, to Fourth street. It is only half completed now. Assessor Blake reported a list of property that escaped assessment last year, and it footed up into the thousands. The attorney for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, addressed council regarding erroneous taxation, but no action was taken. No report was made concerning the alleged bliking of Benwood of $500 yearly for six years by the county, the matter being in the hands of Caldwell & Caldwell, who will have something to say on the matter in the near future.

It is not altogether true that the movement to get up a football team here has fallen through. The boys are anxhous to get up the team, and the only drawback is that old timer, lack of financial support. The game caught on here last fall and with the opening of the present season there is increased interest. The team will average about 139 pounds.
